CP-12 SAFETY AND OCCUPATIONAL HEALTH INTERN PROGRAM
As a safety and occupational health intern with Army Career Program 12 (CP-12), you'll work with Civilian professionals who are passionate, curious, agile, engaging, and well-qualified to meet the Army's needs. You will experience diverse challenges and boundless opportunities for job advancement. Graduates of our program are placed at Army installations and activities all over the world.

GET THE SKILLS YOU NEED TO SUCCEED

Our interns participate in a comprehensive training and development program that incorporates a blended mix of distance learning, university courses, resident training, developmental assignments, and on-the-job training.

OUR MISSION. YOUR FUTURE.

Every day, the Army is challenged with a wide array of safety and occupational health hazards that threaten our ability to train, fight, and win. OUR MISSION is to provide the Army with well-qualified and trained Civilian Safety and Occupational Health professionals with the technical depth, breadth, and insight to meet the Army’s current and future safety and occupational health needs. We offer a paid internship program that will prepare you to assess risks and develop hazard control and accident prevention programs at Army locations across the globe.

CAREER PATHS
