

Preserving and protecting our Army's combat resources

U.S. ARMY COMBAT READINESS CENTER

Veterans Day 2016

Back in 1918, the 11th hour of the 11th day of the 11th month was supposed to mark the end of all wars. That hopeful and optimistic ideal has proved untrue in the decades since, yet generations of American veterans have continued to selflessly answer the call to service. Our Nation is great today because of those sacrifices, both past and present. Thank you for all you do.

This long weekend will present ample opportunity for rest and relaxation, but not without risk. Make safety part of your recreational planning, just as you do during missions on duty. Simply thinking ahead can mean the difference between an enjoyable, memorable time and serious injury or tragedy.

Enjoy your time, but always play it safe. We wish you all a happy Veterans Day.

Terry D. Burton
Command Sergeant Major

Jeffrey A. Farnsworth
Brigadier General, USA
Commanding